Year 2059 Transmutation Naif Makmi, 2021-02-25 When a curious astrobiologist, Phillipa Maxwell, discovers the alien origin of the virus, she's stunned A mysterious illness, peaceful aliens, and humanity begins to die; only to rise again as zombies... When a virus strikes humanity, turning them into zombies, peaceful aliens offer aid—but the virus has alien origins... An alien virus turns humans into zombies—a war begins Humans and aliens peacefully coexist... so why is an alien virus turning humans into zombies? Aliens and humans coexist—a pandemic that turns humans into zombies could spark a war... Especially when a curious astrobiologist, Phillipa Maxwell, discovers the alien origin of the virus. Stricken with grief after her brother is patient zero and has become a zombie, she turns her eyes heavenward as a group of aliens makes a sinister entry to planet Earth. Suddenly the zombies are weaponized, becoming soldiers in an ugly war. Humanity must fight. Fight to stay healthy, fight the zombies, fight this new alien threat. Phillipa, caught in the crossfire of battle, watches friends—aliens and human-alien—fall, only to be risen into more zombies. With the tides of war turning, she must do the unthinkable; use the fate treasure of the universe. Will she use it in time to save the day? Or will she be destroyed, doomed to fight for the wrong side in a war against those she once loved as a zombie?

Year 2059 Naif Makmi, 2021-05 The earth was undergoing regular times of recovery from the space war and technological retardation. It was during these unsuspecting times that Ork and his new ally, Vol were on their way to invade the earth. Perceiving that Elk would use the treasures of the universe to subdue them, Ork made Vol launch a durege -- a powerful alternate reality simulation of a likely attack that had Elk deceived and deviated until they got to the earth, unnoticed and began their actual intent upon it. The planet got blasted in with outworld weaponry that sent tremors throughout the planet; even slightly tilting the earth off its orbit, disrupting time and the geological balancing of the planet. Elk would make his way to the spacepower program agency and coalesce to send a shuttle into space to recover a game-changing material from a rare asteroid. The material was known as delenium and was known to possess properties that absorbed objects into nothingness. With this, they secured a leverage that made them take back the earth and begin the process of rebuilding.

Year 2059 Naif Makmi, 2021-04-12 From the eye of the storm, Philippa must search for answers... and safety. The pods might be gone, but Philippa isn't ready to rest easy-yet. Philippa must find the next transmutation hotspot... before it's too late! Time isn't on Philippa's side, but she's going to fight until the bitter end-if it comes to that. Philippa might have come through relatively unscathed, but will she ever sleep again? While the threat seems to have faded for a moment, Philippa isn't ready to breathe easy just yet; she's certain the pods will return to exact vengeance. After all, a hotheaded race of alien killers won't take defeat without lashing out, right? After touring hotspots, she searches for where she predicts the next transmutation to happen... And nothing happens. No disruption. Philippa's frustration boils over as the quiet drags on and no new attack is launched, that she's aware of. But she's right, even if she doesn't know it-Ork will exact their revenge and they're bringing along a new foe of mankind. Philippa better keeps on her toes, or this time, she might not be lucky enough to survive the upcoming war.
